

Live Feeds and Hatchery Techniques Workshop

Saturday, December 4, 2010

Bowling Green Aquaculture Satellite Center
13737 Middleton Pike, Bowling Green, OH 43402

Cost: $75.00 (includes lunch and information packet)
Bring a calculator and tablet for hands-on training

Agenda

- 9:00 am Registration Opens, Meet & Greet, Refreshments
- 10:00 am Interactive Presentations
- Phytoplankton culture methods and equipment
 - Use of commercially available algae pastes
 - Rotifer and artemia culture methods and equipment
- Noon Lunch
- 1:00 pm Presentations Continue
- Hatchery management
 - Water quality-- Importance, testing and monitoring
 - Tour of the Bowling Green Facility-- Discussions and demonstrations
- 4:00 pm Depart for home

Presenters

Shawn McWhorter, Manager, Bowling Green Aquaculture Center

Eric Henry, PhD, Research Scientist, Process Engineer, Reed Mariculture Inc.

Who Should Attend

- Indoor baitfish growers
- Hatcheries interested in fingerling production for grow-out operations
- Anyone interested in the culture of altricial fish species requiring or benefitting from use of live first feeds
- Anyone interested in preserving or reintroducing altricial species

Registration

Register by calling Julie Strawser-Moose, OSU South Centers
740-289-2071 or 800-297-2072 (Ohio only) ext. 223

(Visa, M/C and American Express accepted)

E-mail: moose.14@osu.edu

<http://southcenters.osu.edu/aqua>

